Cause Unknown.

What steps exactly had led up to this change of front are unknown as yet. Arthur Henderson, who rose to reply to the premier, was clearly non-plussed. He said, he said, to express regret that the premier had not given notice of such an important statement as Mr. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, to whose suggestion it was apparently due, and other leaders had gone home.

As he had earlier explained, the miners' federation would have preferred to open the conference without conditions on either side, but he had not had an opportunity to consult the federation since the afternoon; therefore, he could not assume responsibility in the matter.
He thought the only safe line would be for the prime minister to put his statement into a letter to the officials for consideration.

Reputation in Charge.

The organizations composing the triple alliance held no further meetings to date, they are apparently holding hands until tomorrow. The body of trade issued an official report of today's negotiations for the enlightenment of the public. The report sets forth the arguments of both sides and concluding with a strong repudiation of the accusation that the government is engaged in a general attack on wages, says:

"Such a charge is as monstrous as it is unfounded. The government and community alike are desirous that the best wages should be paid in every industry that such industry can afford."

The council of the independent labor party called upon its members to support the miners by every means in their power, declaring the crisis was due to "an attempt on the part of organized capitalism to establish the right of unlimited plunder and degrade the standard of living, which must be resisted at all costs."

Disorders Increase.

Disorders are meanwhile increasing in the Scottish and Welsh fields.
Schools have been wrecked in the Midlothian district. Volunteer pumpers have been driven from the mine heads in Lancashire, where one $50,000 pump was completely destroyed by extremists.

Military preparations to meet expected violence are rapidly proceeding. Troop movements are extensive, and all London is swarming with contingents of soldiers to and from the world.

The government is relying on the assistance of the "great mass of British people," Lloyd-George said when it appeared, after all-day conference with the miners' leaders, that further argument was futile.

Lloyd-George sought earnestly to force the executives to reconsider their decision to keep the pumpers

Washington, April 7.—Charles G. Dawes has shattered all speed records for official investigations.

Dawes was appointed last week to inquire into the condition of disabled service men. "It won't be like a congressional hearing," Dawes said. It wasn't.

Dawes convened his committee Tuesday, continued it through the lunch hour Wednesday until he had concluded the hearing and immediately went into executive session.

The report was completed Wednesday night and on Thursday morning "Hell and Mariah" Dawes was at the white house report in hand.

"The President is busy, but see you soon," Secretary Christian told Dawes.

"No use waiting," Dawes replied. "Here's our report."

And Dawes was off for Chicago.

Washington, April 7.—Seven specific recommendations chief among them the creation of the veterans' service administration to take entire charge of government relief work among ex-soldiers and to be headed by a director general responsible directly to the president, were contained in a report submitted today to President Harding by his special commission investigating the case of veterans.

Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, chairman of the commission, told the president as he handed him the report that he believed the recommendations were sound and that they would prove a satisfactory so-

WILL AID HARDING ON WORLD UNITY

Senator Hitchcock Promises Support on Any Plan for International Co-operation.

BY JOHN GLEISSNER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 7.—The Harding administration ultimately will be forced to adopt some form of "world co-operation," in the opinion of Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, who led the fight of the Democrats in the Senate for ratification of the Versailles treaty and Savannah Committee Named.

The committee appointed to raise this fund consists of Charles G. Beck, chairman; Stephen N. Har-ris, vice chairman, and William G. Rankin, secretary. It was decided that an advisory committee of 25 men and an executive committee of the same number were necessary and they will be appointed at once.

The action of the Savannah citizens in accepting their quota was most gratifying to President Matheson and his associates on the tour, who were enthusiastic in their expressions of appreciation.

"I shall give President Harding support for any proposition that would bring about international cooperation," said Hitchcock. "It seems to me that the trouble now is international, and not purely domestic."

The Tech boosters were shown the industrial plants of Savannah in an automobile ride which also took them through the beautiful Bonaventure cemetery. Afterwards they were taken on a boat ride about the harbors which afforded a good view of the terminals and port facilities.

Hitchcock declared further to discuss the Knox resolution, or to say whether a fight will be made against it by the democrats. He strongly indicated his belief that it will be a relatively important part of the peace program the republicans will definitely adopt.

with authority, confidently expect the allied governments to accept the principle restated by Secretary Hughes in his notes of last day to those governments that the United States has surrendered none of the overseas possessions of Germany, and that it does not bind by decisions affecting those possessions made by the league of nations without its assent.

There is reason to believe that the correspondence on this subject, which was exchanged between the American officials and the Japanese, British, French and Italian foreign ministers, was not closed with the replies from the Japanese. American officials are restated, the details regarding American rights will have to be worked out in negotiations. In the event, however, that the four powers do not find their way to the American viewpoint there would arise a situation action on which officials refused to act on behalf of the United States. The Shantung settlement, which has been sharply criticized in this country, is particularly mentioned in the notes. It is learned that the phrase, "overseas possessions," in the American communiqués, was used advisedly, and it is pointed out that Shantung was not a German possession. Kiao-Chau, a part of the Chinese province, was held by Germany through a concession from the Chinese government.

The view of the Harding administration, which has not been stated, but this settlement was vigorously opposed by the new administration.

Leaders of the Senate, while the Treaty of Versailles was under consideration by that body, and was made the subject of one of the resolutions presented to the treaty which were adopted.

The latest American notes are known to make a third chapter, at least, in the diplomatic negotiations with the allied governments on the subject of mandates in general and the Pacific island of Yap in particular. The American viewpoint is first. The Secretary of State, in notes to the four great powers on last November 9 and subsequently, was supplemented in a note to the council of the league of nations.

Not Made Public.

The notes of November 9 never have been made public, nor has it been disclosed what the allied governments replied to them. The note sent to the league council was referred by it to those governments, the note expressing the opinion that a proper course since it deals specifically with the Japanese mandate to the island of Yap which was claimed as valid by the Japanese council, or the council of the league on May 7, 1919, while the peace treaty was being framed.

It is not known whether or not at least one of the American government's protests. It was received two days before the Harding administration was seated, and it is known that the Japanese insisted upon its right to a mandate over the island by reason of the award of the supreme court. It is not known whether or not Japan made the further point that its forces had captured this and other Pacific islands from the Germans.

Immediate replies from the four powers to Mr. Hughes' communiques are not to be expected. The issue does concern the four governments and replies probably will be forthcoming only after exchanges between them.

Liquor Explosion Clears Courtroom In Record Time

New York, April 7.—New York's night court bus as a result of the police department's first drive at enforcement of the state prohibition law, adjourned temporarily in disorder early today when a quart bottle of confiscated liquor exploded in the pocket of a detective.

The detective stood before a magistrate supporting a man who, with bowed head, was confessing that he had taken too freely of the brew that intoxicates.

"Where's the evidence?" asked the court.

The detective's hand moved toward his pocket. Followed a loud report: someone shouted a "boom" and a rush for the exit began. The detective was unable to find the bottle, as was his prisoner. The magistrate and others in the court gaped outside, returning only when apprised of the cause of the explosion.

The next defendant on the docket, a father of ten, still trembling as a result of the explosion, swore to a pledge to abstain "forever and ever."

More than twenty men were arrested in connection with the liquor laws during the first night's activities of the police department.

for their father in his attempt to have their mother released from the negro, Clyde Manning, went further to the report of their disappearance, when the defense rested its case, one lone and unsworn statement of the farmer himself.

DR. WILLIAMS EXPECTED BROTHERS.

Dr. Gus Williams, the fourth son, has been a constant attendant on his father, trying to locate him to no answer. He asserted that he had been expecting his brothers in Covington daily. Only Wednesday night he had definite information reported. They will be here tomorrow."

Asked tonight why they had not come, as was expected, he could give no answer. He asserted that he had been absent from the home at last Friday, but admitted that he had no money.

The reports that they had departed have been ripe for days, but nothing tangible was known until the last minute, sheriff reported today.

He declared that on his way to Covington he had passed the Williams place about twelve miles from Montezuma. The house was deserted and farm employees denied knowledge of the whereabouts of JOHN WILLIAMS.

It was a pathetic feature of the trial today when John Williams practically opened his testimony to the jury with a reference to his sons. He told how, just as soon as the call to arms sounded in 1917, they had all four responded and had all four served gallantly during the war.

Although the boys, Huland, Marvin and George, were well connected with the father in the operation of the farm, no indictment has been returned against them in either state or federal courts.

The view of the Harding administration, which has not been stated, but this settlement was vigorously opposed by the new administration.

Leaders of the Senate, while the Treaty of Versailles was under consideration by that body, and was made the subject of one of the resolutions presented to the treaty which were adopted.

The notes of November 9 never have been made public, nor has it been disclosed what the allied governments replied to them. The note sent to the league council was referred by it to those governments, the note expressing the opinion that a proper course since it deals specifically with the Japanese mandate to the island of Yap which was claimed as valid by the Japanese council, or the council of the league on May 7, 1919, while the peace treaty was being framed.

It is not known whether or not at least one of the American government's protests. It was received two days before the Harding administration was seated, and it is known that the Japanese insisted upon its right to a mandate over the island by reason of the award of the supreme court.

Immediate replies from the four powers to Mr. Hughes' communiques are not to be expected. The issue does concern the four governments and replies probably will be forthcoming only after exchanges between them.

SPAIN OVERSTOCKED ON COTTON, REPORTED

No Market Seen for Fleecy Staple There by Attaché.

Washington, April 7.—Spain is apparently shut off as a market for American cotton for the time being, according to Commercial Attaché Charles H. Cunningham at Madrid, who informed the department of commerce today that Spain was overstocked with cotton and cotton textiles under normal circumstances, he declared. Spain will be able to consume about 500,000 more bales of American cotton but there is no surplus which will probably last about six months.

In discussing the purchase of cotton in Spain, Mr. Cunningham said he had taken the place of Liverpool as a buying center due to the establishment of American banks in Spain. Efforts are being made to bring back to Spain the lost trade, he asserted, but Spanish importers see the advantage of buying their cotton with dollars and making one conversion or exchange instead of two. To meet this situation, Mr. Cunningham said British banks are giving direct quotations in dollars and frequently at a lower rate than American institutions.

Mr. Cunningham reported that in the short market in Spain the German policy is not to sacrifice and do not believe that they are selling as cheaply as they might do. I have made a systematic investigation to determine the market in Spain will bear.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE BANK

H. M. Spence, Cashier Carrollton Bank, Arrested on Warrant.

Carrollton, Ga., April 7.—(Special)—Charges of larceny and falsifying records brought against H. M. Spence, former cashier of the Carrollton Bank, will on Friday be laid before a special grand jury. Spence was arrested last week upon warrants sworn out by officials of the bank, which was closed January 2 by T. R. Bennett, state examiner, with the announcement that $10,000 of the bank's funds was unaccounted for. The cashier is under a bond of $40,000.

The special grand jury has been called by reason of the fact that several members of the former jury were in some manner connected with the bank.

In closing the bank, the state examiner said that there was more than enough funds to reimburse its depositors. The affairs of the bank are now in the hands of the state authorities, and are being liquidated. C. A. Lyle, cashier of the First National Bank of Carrollton, is the liquidating agent.

aid in its development. "One of the finest features of this campaign," said President Matheson in his response, "is the interest of the University of Georgia's drive next fall as they have been here to see we are all in one family striving for the common cause of education."

Wallace B. Pierce declared that the Georgia Tech crusade was a success, and that the Georgia Tech boosters had won the hearts of the people of the state, and Mayor James L. Key concluded in a speech which stressed the necessity of raising money for the Georgia Tech instead of waiting for better times.

Welcome at Waynesboro.

At Waynesboro, Hon. Frank S. Parker, a welcome committee of the tour and Dr. W. S. Martin responded in a forceful address. As in many other towns along the route it was impossible to speak to the members of the party, but the members wished to do so. W. R. Crites, of Savannah, talked for a few minutes and then enthusiastically appealed to his audience. A special delegation of Augusta citizens met the train at Waynesboro.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the train reached Augusta. Mayor White and a committee of fifty greeted the visitors, who participated in an automobile tour. The first stop of the famous Partridge Inn banquet was tendered the Tech boosters. The dinner at which the Tech boosters and quartet, Leaptrotte's orchestra and the Partridge string quartet entertained the guests, was one of the most delightful feasts ever served on the trip. Dr. Poole, Maynard, and Atlanta responded to Mayor White's speech of welcome and Harrison E. Howe, of Washington, D. C., spoke for the tourists. Dr. K. G. Matheson impressed the audience by his earnest plea for help in the campaign to co-operate with Governor Hugo M. Dorsey, when called upon to talk, spoke in the same fiery manner which has characterized all the speeches he had made on the tour.

Macon Plans Big Day.

Macon, Ga., April 7.—(Special)—Elaborate plans have been made for the entertainment of the Georgia Tech industrial tour party when it arrives in Macon tomorrow morning at 10 a.m.

Fifty automobiles will assemble at the terminal station and the tourists will be escorted to the cars by Dorsey, and the automobile drivers will parade up Cherry street to the Y. M. C. A. with the Central City band and cadet battalion in an escorting escort.

At the Y. M. C. A. the members of the party will take a dip in the pool. At 12:15 o'clock the party will be taken to the various different points of interest, with Central City park, where a barbecue will be served as the conclusion of the ride.

At the park Mayor Glen Toolie will welcome the visitors to Macon and

W. T. Anderson will be the principal spokesman for the Macon committee. Only about a half hour will be consumed with the speaking and then the barbecue will be started. Following the barbecue the party will be taken back to the terminal station and they will depart from Macon at 1:55 p.m.

Architects to Renew Their Offer to Supply Services to Schools

Representatives of the Georgia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects are scheduled to appear before the board of education this afternoon at 3 o'clock to renew and explain their proposition to furnish architectural service in connection with construction of any repairs to school buildings contemplated from proceeds of the bond issue.

The proposition, which was before the board in the form of a communication at its last meeting, was first rejected. The architects proposed to form a corporation empowered by law to execute contracts with the city and to furnish architectural services rendered in the school building program.

A delegation of East Atlanta citizens is expected to be present at the meeting to ask for the creation of an annex to the East Atlanta school.

Representatives of Morris Brown university, negro institution, it is understood, will appear and offer to purchase from the city Boulevard school, which is adjacent to the college. The negroes want to buy the building and occupy it as an annex to the college.

The board will have before it an application from the architect, in behalf of the city, for the construction of a school building in a number of cities, offering to work at a fixed fee. Architectural plans and specifications may be prepared for Atlanta's new schools. He agrees to do this work on a compensation basis of 1 per cent on the cost of the construction.

Morton to Speak.

Announcement has been made that James Morton, prominent church worker, will address the regular Friday night prayer service for dorotheans at the young men's Christian association, on Uncle Street. The meeting will begin at 9:15, and last until 10 o'clock.

All proceeds from the matinee performances will go to the support of aged performers, who, having done so little for the public are no longer able to appear before the public.

At both theaters the performers have arranged numerous "specials," which will be given in addition to the regular performances. The actors are taking a pride in being consumed in the trials.

Underwood Plans to Save
Negro's Life on Grounds That Crime Was Committed in Fear of Death.

BY MARVIN KENDRICK.
Constitution Staff Correspondent.
Covington, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Declaring that Clyde Manning, the state's star witness against John S. Williams, on trial here for murder, will claim that he killed several of the negroes in the vicinity of the Jasper farm at the instructions of Williams, and that his life was threatened if he disobeyed, E. Marvin Underwood, chief counsel for the negro, announced here tonight that a plea of "not guilty" will be made when his client faces the court.

Owing to the fact that Judge John B. Hutchison is still engaged in the trial of Williams in connection with the killings, and has been conducting continuous sessions of court for a number of weeks, it is not known when Manning will be placed on trial. The judge is scheduled to hold court in DeKalb county next week, but it has been reported that this session will probably be cancelled.

Mr. Underwood stated that he was rather glad to be engaged in the case since he has become thoroughly familiar with the case while attending all sessions of the Newton superior court.

Brand to Prosecute.

Solicitor-General A. M. Brand, however, has not decided whether he will call this case, but it is understood he will hold a conference with Judge Hutchison on Friday or Saturday to decide on a date.

In reply to intimations that he would not prosecute the cases of minor negroes, Manning and Williams jointly indicted with Williams, Solicitor Brand stated positively tonight that he would fight all moves to save the negroes, and do all in his power to convict him. Manning's case will be based on a section of the Georgia law which states that any person committing a crime under fear of death, shall not be guilty. Since he first confessed, Manning has maintained that Williams forced him to make the confession. "We do not expect the trial to last long," said Mr. Underwood.

Unable to Gain Strength
After Operation

Fredericksburg, Va.—"After I had gone through a very serious operation I could not regain my health and strength. I suffered with pains and aches all over and was very nervous. My mother advised my taking Dr. Piero's medicine. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' alternately, and they soon built me up and seemed to give me new life. I heartily recommend these medicines to women who suffer with any sort of weakness."—MRS. W. S. COX, 903 Hanover St. All druggists.

"You see, Manning has already confessed to his connection with the crime, and we are not in a position to admit of any evidence relating to them. We will attempt to show, however, that Williams forced Manning to do it as part of the plot that he did so because he feared that if he refused his life would be forfeited."

Underwood was returned to the Fulton county Tower late this afternoon. Eight other negroes who were brought here for use as witnesses were released in the morning. Only a small guard accompanied the parties, and no trouble was experienced during the two trips, according to Sheriff B. L. Johnson.

To Be Held in Tower.

"Manning will be kept in the Fulton county Tower until his trial here for murder," said the sheriff. "We do not know when he will be placed before the court to fight for his life, but in the meantime we are merely playing safe in keeping him here."

When the Jasper county grand jury starts its investigation of the death farm next week, Manning will be carried to McDonough to tell his story there, while several other negroes will also make the trip. All the blacks will be used by the government in its investigation. No large charges in Jasper county, and will appear again before the federal grand jury.

and engineers on the job during the proposed negotiations with the operators, and declared that this was imperative before any conference was held.

Demand Two Points.

"There is no good in attempting to bargain," Mr. Premier," declared Herbert Smith, spokesman for the miners' delegation. "We have to have the two fundamental first—the national wage board and the national pooling of profits—before we will concede a single thing. Then we will talk over the safety of the mines."

"If the miners will not permit the government to provide for the safety of the mines," Lloyd-George replied, "then we have reached an impossible position. That is an ultimatum of the most serious character."

Hodges, the miners' executive, supported Smith's position whereupon the premier said:

"I am very sorry. There is a much graver divergence of opinion than I had anticipated."

Charges Coercion.

The premier, at the conclusion of this parley, publicly charged the miners with deliberate destruction of the mines for the purpose of forcing the owners and the nation to capitulate to their demands, and further declared that the subsidy demanded would cost the government 1,250,000 pounds weekly, an impossible sum to pay.

Every government argument was met by reiteration of Smith's demands. And in the figure of this labor leader officials professed to see the greatest danger of the moment. Smith is neither a revolutionary nor an idealist. Instead, he is a plain—some call him "bull-headed"—Yorkshireman, whom no logic and no argument will move.

Throughout the conference Smith stuck to the terms of the truce—this resumption was to come it must be on the previous wage basis before the pumps would be manned.

Smith yields a tremendous personal influence among even the more moderate miners.

Steel mills throughout the nation are closing their doors. Approximately 28,000 steel workers are now unemployed, and this number is constantly growing.

Bearing Red Flag.

Volunteer workers on the mine pumps are now abandoning the pits under the threats and in some cases actual violence, of the strikers.

Miners in Indiana, Indiana, and bearing the red flag of communism, thousands of demonstrators headed by brass bands stormed the Waats-oway coal fields and forced the management and mine officials to decamp.

Numerous mining villages are now empty because of the pump stoppage. Pilgrim and pretty looting is taking place in many districts, particularly those in Scotland, where large foreign elements predominate.

The heaviest property losses thus far reported result from damage to delicate and costly electrical mine machinery.

Scenes of Desolation.

Rhonda coal fields are a scene of desolation as a result of the systematic picketing.

Two battalions of infantry are marching on their way to England from Malta, called in for strike duty.

Do the Herald organ, deacons, their wives, rank and file, and transport workers will join the miners "in mutual defense of national wage scales as basis of settlement of all mine strikes."

The extremists are endeavoring to launch a popular battlecry of "Let every man join the movement to preserve his wages."

EXTREME PENALTY FOR ACID-THROWER

Mrs. Rolader Is Sentenced to One Year on the Prison Farm by Judge
Hardeman.

Mrs. Nell Goodman Rolader, the young woman who was convicted of mayhem by a jury in Superior court Wednesday, was sentenced to twelve months at the state prison farm by Judge John D. Hardeman Thursday morning. This is the extreme penalty under the law.

Judge Hardeman, of Louisville, who is presiding for Judge John D. Humphries, stated in sentencing Mrs. Rolader that he had never before sentenced a white woman to the farm during the seven years he has been on the bench.

Mrs. Rolader was convicted of throwing acid upon the face and chest of Mrs. Gladys Presnell, ticket seller at the Strand theater, on February 14. Mrs. Presnell lost the use of her left eye and will be badly scarred the rest of her life as the result of the acid burns.

Judge Hardeman said:

"I have studied this case closely, and while I believe there was a great aggravation, there was no justification."

"I have tried cases which involved the life of one person, but this case involved three lives. The acid, I believe, is the greatest tragedy which has ever come to my notice. You are young people, the time of your life, and you are older, Mrs. Presnell and Mr. Rolader, and now your lives are marred forever. The victim is married physician and Mrs. Rolader's husband will never recover from this blow."

"If the people who have heard this case would learn a lesson, and walk the narrow pathway, how much sorrow would be avoided. And the narrow path is very easy to follow."

"This case is, under the law, a misdemeanor. It must have been an oversight in the part of the legislature in making so serious an offense a misdemeanor."

"If my conscience and sense of duty would allow me, I would tell you instead of sentencing you to penal servitude. I slept last night, although I am 50 years old, for thinking of this case."

"Such argument that has been made here; such abuse," said Mr. Meldrim, "is not to be overlooked."

"Conspiracy does not have to be actually talked; it may be the consequence of minor provocation. The defendants may have never heard of each other, but still they could be co-conspirators."

"There were a lot of individuals stealing. I concede that under this indictment you cannot 'convict them,'" the district attorney continued. "That is the reason you are here."

"Was there a conspiracy?"

The district attorney took up a brief discussion of the original conspiracy, and next, the necessity of the government using the testimony of some of the conspirators to prove the charge made against him during the arguments of the defense that he had perjured himself. Hughes declared that after talking with the witness, he told him that he would ask the court to be lenient with him.

Mr. Bennett had not finished his closing argument of the case when court adjourned tonight, and he will

WHY YEAST BUILDS STRENGTH

Run-Down Systems Demand More Vitamines Which Are Now Found in Yeast — New Yeast Tablets Build Up the Sick

The human body is like over-worked farm land. Constant building of new tissues exhausts certain vital elements of the body, which are lost in the average diet of today. These essential organisms are called vitamines, which, more than any other element, preserve our health, aid in assimilation and maintain the health and vitality to the body. And now a great discovery has been made — it is in vitamines. Just this compound substance, added to regular meals, causes children to grow more sturdy, builds up run-down constitutions, and even removes the effects of the cold. Yeast is also a splendid remedy for boils, ulcers, skin troubles, etc.

Countless experiments in great laboratories have determined the value of yeast. Thousands are using it. But the great majority are taking the wrong kind of yeast. They use ordinary yeast — which is merely a make-shift, containing only about 20% of yeast and the rest starch and water.

Now there is a new way to take yeast has been discovered — a compound containing a concentration of dried brewer's yeast combined with tonics as tonics are necessary to get the full benefit from yeast. From this formula body of chemists have worked out the tablets called IRONIZED YEAST, which is not only always fresh, more sanitary, and more convenient to use, but costs only a trifling sum — 10 cents a day. IRONIZED YEAST is the scientific vitamine tonic treatment containing yeast in the most effective form as approved by medical authorities. It is pleasant to take and will not nauseate. Users say that before taking yeast tablets they can't even perceive a wonderful benefit. Go to your druggist, get a box of IRONIZED YEAST, and begin the treatment today. See directions in the package for children.

prominent young Pike county farmer who is defendant in the peonage case now on trial in United States district court here.

Connell took the stand just a few minutes before adjournment of court at 2 o'clock, and in reply to questions made by Reuben R. Arnold, counsel for the defense, said that Alexander had always been "a more or less trifling hand" and had also had trouble with the negro Cap Churn, another worker in the place. Connell testified that it was commonly known on the farm that Churn and Alexander had considerable friction over the latter's wife.

With regard to the warrant which Connell is said to have sworn out for the negro, Connell admitted the procedure, saying that he had stolen a pistol from him. He said that the negro ran away shortly before the warrant was issued and that he was found in Douglasville. Connell, in company with the sheriff, brought the negro back to the farm, said the defendant, and on the way back Alexander is said to have admitted possession of the pistol for a time.

Asked For Work

"He told me he had it, but that he had lost it in a crap game," said Connell. "I asked him if he could get it back and he said that he knew where it was and could recover it. It didn't want the negro to work on my farm, but I did want the pistol, which was worth about $30 wholesale. He asked me to let him work on my farm, I said, 'Well, I don't need him.' He later asked my father to let him work there, but my father, a new man, Cornelius had always caused trouble and he didn't want him either."

When questioned as to the death of Alexander, Connell said he disappeared later and was found dead in the swamp of the Flint river, the young farmer having lost any knowledge of his laughter seeming to indicate preposterousness of the idea. He said he was nursing his father and others of his family who were sick with flu at the time in Ellenton.

"Did you and some more men go to a creek and go to the house of Phil Moore, the other negro for whom Alexander was working?" asked the attorney. "Did you put him in the back seat of the car, drive you and another man, and drive away with him?" asked Attorney Arnold.

"No," said Connell, smiling.

Had No Trouble.

Connell also testified that some "government men" came to his plantation and the disappearance of Alexander, apparently inquiring into the whereabouts of Alexander, who his employers were and other details. The defendant said that he never had any trouble with the negroes on the farm and that he always "got along well with them," also of paying certain debts for other men, his appearance for $150 for Phil Moore, who hired Alexander after his return to the farm, and his loss of $146 for the long distance.

During Attorney Arnold's cross-examination of the young farmer, he merely a make-shift, containing only about 20% of yeast and the rest starch and water.

was read, and Judge Cleveland said that this statement was also made voluntarily. Judges Flynt and Goodrich corroborated the testimony of Judge Cleveland.

Just before the defendant took the stand, R. C. Connell, his father, testified that he had recently seen Cornelius Alexander only once after he returned to work for Moore. He also said that he knew nothing of Alexander's disappearance.

Following record-breaking services of Wednesday with churches of the city taking part in the great inter-denominational campaign, which included Methodist, Baptist, and Presbyterian denominations, successful results were reported and a sense of interest and enthusiasm that surpassed fondest hopes for an overwhelming spiritual campaign.

Reports poured into the Constitution office Thursday night by the officers of the great inter-denominational campaign, which service was assuming broader proportions as the campaign progressed. Commenting on the results attained in the campaign, Professor Philip Gillam, of Atlanta Theological seminary, who is conducting services at the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church, said:

"I have been doing evangelistic work for over 20 years, and never have I seen anything that in any way compares to the success of the present Atlanta campaign. The city is undergoing the most profound religious awakening ever recorded in the history of southern religious affairs, and am proud of having the honor of being instrumental in bringing so many souls to Christ."

Wide Experience.

Professor Gillam has conducted revival services in almost all the states of the Union, and has made success and been having some wonderful services at the Peachtree Road church. His sermon Thursday night was on "The Answerable Question," and he will preach the sequel at the Friday night meeting on the text "The Sabbath is a Day of Rest." Many meetings are being held in a tent, with large and enthusiastic services reported. Other Presbyterian churches reported remarkable meetings following.

Dr. W. H. L. Presbytery reported.

Human Parish Presbytery, Rev. Edwin Hemphill, noted evangelist, preaching to overflow crowds daily. Many additions to the church.

Westminster Presbytery, Dr. J. W. Caldwell, pastor, concluding the services.

Deputy Presbytery — The Rev. Eugene H. B. Moore, of Chatham, Va., has shown hundreds the light of the divine inspiration.

Baptist Churches.

Baptist churches reported great interest in the great revival reported Thursday night. The great interest in the membership added during the campaign of $50, with attendance and interest increasing.

Dr. J. J. Bennett is in charge of the Thursday night meetings at the First Baptist church.

Rev. A. C. Shuler, who is conducting his own campaign, stated: "Thursday night was the greatest night of my ministry. I have never had a night like it."

Dr. J. J. Bennett is in charge of the Thursday night meetings at the First Baptist church.

Mr. C. H. McFadden, editor of The Southern Bapist, reported that the Atlanta representatives at the conference in New Orleans tomorrow will leave this today.

profits over onto the consumer, and have their profits go tax-free."

Storm Is Pending.

That storm is brewing from a man of Freud's potentiality, in the face of the activities of Senators Reed, Smoot and others, close administration allies, to promote the sales tax idea, is being thrust into the G. O. P. camp on the eve of a congressional session in which republicans can have everything their own way, without even debatable opposition, portends a storm before the new session gets deep into the grind.

As for the sales tax, the principal feature of Senator Reed's revenue bill is a turnover sales tax of 1 per cent, applying to "goods, wares and merchandise, with an exemption of $6,000 a year on gross business."

This tax will be collected only from the manufacturer and distributor and will not be paid directly by the consumers of retail goods in the form of a tax. This does not mean that the tax will not be passed on to the public on every purchase made of a taxable article, but that, in the opinion of Senator Reed, the manufacturer will be compelled to pass on the tax to the consumer.

HARDWICK REITERATES STAND ON APPROPRIATIONS AT CONFERENCE.

Financial difficulties facing the state and suggested means of meeting them were discussed at an informal conference Thursday morning in the office of Secretary of State S. G. McLendon, at which Governor-elect Thomas W. Hardwick, Comptroller General William A. Wright, State treasurer J. C. Bryan, Tax Commissioner J. Fulbright, Attorney-General R. A. Denny, State Bank Superintendent T. R. Bennett and Secretary of State McLendon were present.

Governor-elect Hardwick repeated his determination not to approve any new state bills until he has ascertained that the legislature has provided means to raise revenue to meet the bills. State finances are now in a sorry condition, according to those attending the conference, owing to the action of legislatures for several years past in voting appropriations and other revenue.

The legislature, in the opinion of Comptroller General Wright, who is more familiar with the state finances than any other person in the room, must meet the difficulty by ceasing to appropriate money beyond the power of the state to pay out, and by reducing funds for school warrants and pensions as they fall due. He approved Mr. Hardwick's plan to cut appropriations and to examine the state treasury.

The conference was in the nature of a cabinet meeting, to acquaint the new administration with the financial status of the state. It was called primarily by Secretary of State McLendon to consider a plan for reducing the expenses of Western and Atlantic railroad rentals, to relieve stringency in the state treasury.

HARRIS AND BROWN

School children of Atlanta Thursday filled Taff Hall in the Auditorium and, chortling with the Jabberwock, led the Alice and the White Rabbit down the aisle and into the tiny secret rose garden, where they ate oysters with the wasp, imitated the bluebottle pillar smoke his cheroot and forgot dull lessons while they watched the screen version of "Alice in Wonderland." The new production, which has never been plainly evidenced by the pleasure of the children.

Mrs. W. J. Harris, recently of New York and a former student of Moszkowski in Paris, plays during the performances, and sings folk songs, country dances and minuets from Browne and Bach. The Tech band will play before the evening performance. Tickets are on sale before all performances at the Auditorium.

Wallace P. Zachry, Columbia Student, Wins Debate Honor

Wallace P. Zachry, of 73 Park street, West End, has been signally honored by Columbia University in that he has been selected one of the two men who will represent Columbia in a mock trial before the New York court of appeals.

The case will be conducted by four law students, two from Columbia and two from Yale, with Charles Scott, son of ex-Pres. T. A. Taff, and young Chauncey Depew acting as representatives of Yale. The second Columbia student will be George P. Johnson of Macon, Ga. The case will be held at the Yale club, in New York city, on April 12.

Young Mr. Zachry has only been at the university for two years, and for this reason his selection to represent Columbia is considered a particular honor, as the contestants are usually made from third-year men. He is a graduate of Boys' High school, the University of Georgia, receiving high honors at both institutions.

Wallace P. Zachry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Zachry, of 73 Park street, West End, has been signally honored by Columbia University in that he has been selected one of the two men who will represent Columbia in a mock trial before the New York court of appeals.

The case will be conducted by four law students, two from Columbia and two from Yale, with Charles Scott, son of ex-Pres. T. A. Taff, and young Chauncey Depew acting as representatives of Yale. The second Columbia student will be George P. Johnson of Macon, Ga. The case will be held at the Yale club, in New York city, on April 12.

Young Mr. Zachry has only been at the university for two years, and for this reason his selection to represent Columbia is considered a particular honor, as the contestants are usually made from third-year men. THIS MEANS BUSINESS.

It is reassuring to the Atlanta public to know that E. R. Black has become chief counsel to assist Solicitor Boykin in the probe authorized by council to get at the bottom of the crime situation so far as it involves the efficiency of the police department, or any other public office.

The direct charge has been made by two grand juries that for more than three years an organized band of confidence men, gamblers, plug-uglies and plain, ordinary thugs and murderers, has been operating openly and without let or hindrance, either by connivance or criminal inefficiency on the part of the detective department.

The presentments of those two grand juries incidentally indicated that a dragnet, properly and fearlessly operated, might catch others than members of the detective force.

All that the decent people of this city want is the facts—the plain, open, uncolored truth about the situation, regardless of whom it favors or whom it hurts!

As to whether the criminal practices which admittedly have been going on here have been due to detective department connivance or to detective department inefficiency, the effect is the same; the one is as bad, so far as the public safety and welfare is concerned, as the other.

To get at the facts no better man could be put in charge of the investigation than Eugene R. Black.

He has accepted the assignment largely because it was his duty to the public to do so.

Mr. Black, born and reared in Atlanta, can be relied upon to spare neither time nor his unusual talents in an effort to clear up this situation and facilitate the processes of justice.

He is a lawyer of high ability, and is particularly well equipped for this work by reason of his former experience as solicitor of the city court.

The selection of Mr. Black for this important work means that the curtain is about to rise on the most important investigation that has ever taken place in Atlanta.

RESTLESS EX-KINGS.

An ex-king may be comfortably housed and fed in a safe land, proverbially flowing with milk and honey; with servants that come at his beck and call, and a six-seat limousine ever ready to take him for a ride around his limited surroundings; but he chafes in his retirement.

The breakaway idea is ever present with him.

A peasant peeps at him through a crack in his castle-fence, and he storms and rages—not because he really doesn't relish the idea of being an object of curiosity, but for the reason that he isn't as free as that peasant, and can no more pose spectacularly before his former subjects.

In his case "the king is dead," and there are few—if any voices—to shout, "Long live the king!" That is what hurts.

But for all their vaunted aversion to publicity, when they have been pinned down to close quarters, ex-kings have had advertising agents to keep them before the public—"lest we forget."

In fact, they are great advertisers. With them "out of print" means "far and forgot."

Hence the recent bad break of Charles of Austria.

And as to William Hohenzollern—the minute he asks to be "let alone," he orders pen, ink and paper and—writes a book about himself and the late war; a book which, he hopes, will provoke controversy and bring him into the spotlight.

He nearly worked his chief publicity agent to death while the war was on, and the latter made a fairly good wooden god and tin war lord of him!

He's an advertiser from far and away time. He's for safe publicity—like the rest of his kind. He can't stand the dead, down-and-out back-number business.

So in one way or another—by every trick and turn possible—he advertises that he still lives!

Nothing like advertising! It makes the world-wide move! But with all its power in doing things it will never restore William Hohenzollern to his lost throne.

And he pretty well knows now that his brother ex-emperor of Austria is in the same boat!

BETTER THAN STRIKING.

By voluntarily taking the initiative in curtailing their wage scale the union bricklayers and masons of Atlanta have placed themselves in a position that merits the hearty commendation of the community.

Following this action, spokesmen for the workers issued a statement setting forth the unions' position as follows—

"We want it distinctly understood that our men are employed, but with everything else coming down, the men, with the interest of the public at heart, wanted to deal fairly and squarely and took off some of the increases they had received in the period of pyramiding prices."

This voluntary action on the part of Atlanta union labor follows directly on the heels of the adoption of a similar course by the bricklayers and masons of St. Louis, and by other building trades workers over the country.

This action on the part of labor in keeping with what the general run of employers of labor have had to do in the process of the readjustment of their business to a normal peace-time basis.

Many industries that were running twenty-four hours a day a year or so ago—and being unable even then to keep up with the demand for their output—have had to so sweepingly curtail their operations that some are now closed down, while others are running only on part time.

They have had to absorb their share of the shrinkage, both in volume of business and in profits, and some are now operating at a loss.

The same is true of business generally.

It naturally follows that it would be both unreasonable and unjust for labor to demand a continuation of the high level wage scales in the face of such conditions, when the tendency of everything is down.

For labor to take the initiative in the matter of wage reductions is a manifestation of a spirit of fairness and enterprise that cannot be too highly commended; and it is to be hoped that, proportionate with the lowering of the prices of living commodities generally, labor of all crafts will meet conditions half way.

It is far better for the workers as well as for industry and for the public than going on strike.

PEACHTREE REPAIRS.

The county commissioners have ordered road repairs on the tracks of the trolley company on Peachtree road.

This stretch of Peachtree is paved with concrete on both sides of the street car tracks, but the strip for which the Georgia Railway and Power company is responsible under its franchise is in a condition that not only mars the appearance of the whole road, but makes it dangerous to traffic.

The street car company is obligated to maintain that part of the roadway covered by its tracks, and if it does not do so the county has the right to attend to the job at the expense of the company.

And that the county will do this, if the company does not, is made clear by the action of the board.

The company should not make it necessary for the county to act.

No showers yet. Soon, maybe, but not yet.

This is a revised prediction of the climate for Friday and a few following days after the little storm center down Texas way had made its way to like rain Thursday and Friday. The weather was fairly fine day, if a wee bit cloudy, and Mr. von Herrmann confidently expects Friday to be of the same caliber.

Just partly cloudy—that's the woe he will promise.

REV. WILLIAM FARISS

Ever since Greece got her king back she's been fighting mad.

Just From Georgia

By FRANK L. STANTON.

In Hallelujah Town

The namin' o' the settlement wuz hard to bring about; Each feller made suggestions, an' still we wuz in doubt; So we held a big town meetin', an'—peared like providence! We named her "Hallelujah," an' been happy ever since!

III.

They ain't no growlers in it—on ever plain' an' slope The sun is shinin' brightly—the stars a' whisperin' hope; An' all the folks' tell you fer miles an' miles aroun', They ain't no thorns along the road to Hallelujah Town!

IV.

For there the birds a' singin', the fields air flowerin' fine; The sun jes' don't know nuttin' but how to rise an' shine! An' what to us are mansions in cities of renown, So long as we air happy in Hallelujah Town!

V.

Pretty Sure Thing. (From the Newport Independent.) A normal man's "expectancy," nowadays, after passing 30, is that he is going to catch hell most of the time, and he seldom fails.

Lawnmower Man.

The poet of the Quachita Signal is sure of his ground now, for he says:

"Points and buds
Brooms and buds,
Birds and gnats,
Gaudy hats,
Greening twigs,
Lilac sprigs,
Seeds and sacks,
Aching backs,
Hens cackle,
Girls freckle,
Baseball game,
Spring has come!"

End of the Know-It-All Man. Copy of a letter received by the editor of the Medicine Lodge Index:

"Editor Index: I done it an' got away and they ain't no use asking for my cause he be a long ways off when I come up and said it just oncet off and I busted him with an ax to nothin' but a mighty good letter. When I come up to me when I wuz lookin' lookin' at my apperel trees rite after the big frost monday and he said it an' then I up an busted him, so they alnt no use lookin' for him now, me neither."

"yers truly
"uno"
"p.s. what he said was 'I knowed it was goin' to frost and kill the fruit an' then when I busted him, he alnt no use lookin' for him now, me neither."

That's the Way With Us! You'll think, in the time of misgivin'—

When you think it's yer summons to go;

It's a mighty good w'rl' where you're livin'—

As good as you ever may know;

An' it's then that you'll say:

"Let me put off the day!

I ain't ready, now, to hit the high way!"

An Old-Time Glimpse. The Greensboro Herald-Journal saw a poem on the street recently, and put rhyme around it, as follows:

"The old-fashioned girl is back And we want to stress We saw a damsel dold up In a sun-burnt gingham dress."

Bilville Financial Note.

Keep the money at home, but keep it moving around town. It needs exercise, as well as you do; but sometimes, when it goes from home, it never finds its way back.

DAYLIGHT SAVING PROJECT BEFORE COUNCIL TODAY

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the ordinance committee of council will hold a public hearing on the daylight saving ordinance introduced in council two weeks ago and referred to the committee.

The ordinance provides that on the last Sunday in April o'clock shall be advanced one hour and remain ahead until the last Sunday in October. Hundreds of citizens have been supporting the proposal of the ordinance. Councilman Alvin Richards is chairman of the committee.

The company should not make it necessary for the county to act.

Mrs. Robert O. Reynolds

"I have actually gained twenty-five pounds and I just think Taniec is the grandest medicine in the world," said Mrs. Robert O. Reynolds, 127 North Denver St., Kansas City, Mo.

"For ten long years I suffered from a very bad form of rheumatism, stomach and nervous trouble. My doctor told me to go to the West. Little I did eat soured on my stomach and I suffered the most severe pains in my back, hips and shoulders. My rheumatism was so bad that I could not raise my hands to comb my hair and my arms hurt me to my finger tips. I became so weak and so done that I lost all my energy and life had become almost a burden. I tried many things but nothing helped me."

"I had only taken the first bottle of Taniec when I noticed my appetite was improving and I could sleep better at night. I have taken three bottles and the way I was has helped me and built me up in no time. I am now a healthy man. I am not fishing. I can eat anything and everything without the slightest disagreeable after-effects. I sleep better and am in better health than I have been for years. I am glad to give this statement, hoping that any who are suffering and did not experience the same wonderful results, which I believe they will if they give Taniec a fair trial!" (adv.)

Leading Legal Characters in "Murder Farm" Trial

Howard, of Augusta, who is assisting the state; 4, Solicitor-General A. M. Brand, who is conducting state's case; 5, Sheriff B. L. Johnson, of Newton county; 6, Graham Wright, assistant attorney-general, who is assisting state.

FATE OF WILLIAMS IN HANDS OF JURY

Johnson, who has staged a remarkable fight for his client, is expected to attract the largest crowd of the trial.

SHERIFF TESTIFIES, CORROBORATING MANNING.

The last two state's witnesses who testified were put on the stand to corroborate statement of Clyde Manning, negro farm boss. Manning told the jury yesterday Williams directed the killing of the men, three of whom were drowned in Newton county.

Rena Manning, wife of Clyde Manning, corroborated her husband's statement that the night Peterson, Willie Preston and Harry Price were last seen alive, Williams carried them and Manning and Chapman, who had been with them, directed the bodies to Peterson, and Price found in Newton county rivers and told where the other bodies could be found.

The state rested here and Williams and his counsel withdrew from the court room for a conference.

COURTROOM ASTIR WITH SPECULATION.

While Williams conferred with his attorneys, everyone in the court room was talking, speculating, calculating on the line of procedure the defense would follow for only Williams, member of his family, counsels and few newspapermen in the jury box, were among the first in the county to answer the country's call to war. The crowd, consisting of spectators and the attorneys' last minute conference with their client.

Greene Johnson took the floor.

looked toward the jury and then to the judge.

WILLIAMS ON STAND IN HIS OWN BEHALF.

"Your honor, the defendant will take the stand in his own behalf. I will represent him," he said, "you may strike him."

With this he resumed his seat, and during the hole of the long trial, he sat in silence, his hands resting on his lap, his chin propped in his hand. His eyes never left Williams. To his right, Mr. Howard, who had conducted the prosecution's examination, twirled his glasses in one hand and listened attentively to Williams' every word.

Solicitor Brand smiled once or twice. Williams testified toward the federal agents grouped around the table, and C. G. and H. H. Hill, associated with Mr. Johnson, glanced about the courtroom and at times made notes on parts of the trial.

Mrs. Williams, sitting with them, was dressed in black and appeared nervous during the ordeal. Her eyes never left her husband.

Sheriff B. L. Johnson, of Newton county, testified that Manning identified the bodies found in the river and unfolded his narration was unfolded.

WILLIAMS SHOWS STRAIN OF TRIAL.

Williams himself showed the first strain of the long trial when he sat down with his hands crossed and made his statement in short, jerky sentences in a voice so low it was modulated that he could not be heard by the host of spectators in the rear of the courtroom.

He was noticeably nervous. Throughout his statement, his trembling hands alternated in rubbing his cheek and playing with his mustache.

The jurors listened impassively. Some steadily chewed tobacco. Others did not even fasten their eyes to the trial. Some talked, while still others sat in rapt attention.

WILLIAMS ANSWERED CALL TO ARMS.

"I have never had any kind of criminal charges against me, or my boys before this," he said to the first words of Williams, who had been captured by Chapman.

Williams said his four grown sons were among the first in the county to answer the country's call to war.

He said more farm boys have joined the forces.

"I am the only one of the attorneys who might be held responsible for the capture of Chapman," he continued.

Williams said he paid these men wages. He then told of the federal investigation that started last February. He asked the department of justice agents to tell him exactly what charges were made against him.

Williams told the defense he had been told that working the federal agents he might have been technical in his statement that negro farmers were if their definition was correct."

FEDERAL AGENT SCORED MANNING.

"You lying scoundrel, you ought to have your neck broken," Williams said of the negro when he said he was acting after comparing the version Williams had given about the re-capture. Gus Chapman, a negro who had run away from Williams and had captured Chapman had been brought back after attacking Manning's wife.

The defense had explained Williams told the agents that he knew nothing about the capture of Chapman.

The surroundings are much better than the jail," he said.

The agents commented that the far hands were well fed and well dressed, Williams said.

"Mr. Johnny, you ain't treated me right; you made me out to be right; those two negroes, Williams said Manning told him afterwards.

"They told me I was just as guilty of peonage as you were," he said, quoting Williams as saying.

GAVE EACH NEGRO MONEY THEY ASKED.

The last night Preston, Price and Peterson were seen, they came to him and said they wanted to go to town and would not return. They asked for and got $5 each, he added, and he offered to take them to the train. Charles Chapman, a negro, had got cents apiece from him. Williams declared, and went off.

"That was the last I ever saw of those boys," he said, referring to Peterson, Price and Preston. Williams will stand in his own behalf.

Williams went off last night.

Williams was talking in a calm, slow voice and occasionally made a slow, slow gurgle as he addressed the jury.

He told of hearing later that the negro body had been found and of his later arrest.

"Whoever put the bodies in the ground did not do it for a purpose," he asserted.

DECLARER HE IS FALSELY ACCUSED.

Williams asserted he was "falsely accused" and added, "With them they are to him (Clyde) Manning," make him accuse me. I don't know.

"I did not know what he was going to say till we heard him on the stand," he said.

Williams then went into details of Manning's long employment on the farm.

Williams said, Clyde Manning's mother asked him to take Clyde Manning and others of his children to the farm, and when he did, the mother could not control them.

He told of paying doctors' bills and of trying to "make them do right."

"I am innocent in this case," he said.

"I am absolutely innocent," said Williams.

"The above all I can say," he concluded and left the stand.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON ARGUMENTS.

Judge Hutchison commented on the "splendid order" maintained by the crowd and repeated his warning against disorder.

The state announced it expected the trial to last approximately five, in the argument.

The order of arguments was announced as follows:

C. O. King, Covington, for defendant.

Graham Wright, assistant attorney-general, prosecution.

W. H. King, Monticello, Ga., defense.

Solicitor-General A. M. Brand, prosecution.

Greene F. Johnson, Monticello, defense.

Mr. King started speaking soon after the afternoon session began.

He added that the defense expected to call witnesses to corroborate Williams' story.

He added that Williams had established "as far as possible" by describing how he was at home the night the crimes are charged against him.

He said he had been told that Williams had been charged with the peonage.

"It is a condition of peonage existent there the fact that Williams had not been charged with the peonage," he said.

PACKERS ASK DAMAGES OVER THREE MILLION

Washington, April 7.—Arguing a claim made by the United States against the packers, it was ordered that the "packers case" to recover from the government approximately $3,250,000 for refusal of the war department to accept 63,000,000 pounds of beef and bacon ordered by the United States food administration in December, 1918.

The actions have been brought by Atlanta and New York packing company, Miller and Harts, and Morris and company, and the decision is expected to affect a number of other suits contemplated by packers involving $5,000,000.

Social Events Are Planned For Women at Ad Convention

Plans for the entertainment of the hundreds of women who will attend the International Association of Advertising Clubs' annual meeting when they meet in Atlanta, were discussed at an enthusiastic membership meeting of women members of the Daffodil club held last night at the Daffodil cafe.

During the convention, which will be held June 12-16 inclusive, many special attractions will be arranged for the visiting women, making out a program for the entertainment features of this convention. The advertising club has asked the co-operation of a number of prominent Atlanta women who are interested in advertising. At present, however, the visitors who will be there during the convention.

Miss Theodora Stanley, chairman of woman's department of the club, pointed out that a number of local women, some leaders in the business world, others prominent in the advertising field, have expressed a desire to participate in the entertainment of the guests and to have the privilege of attending some of the business sessions.

In order to allow this honor, the Atlanta club has secured permission of the board of directors of the national organization to open its doors to these women, who are expected to be influential in becoming associate members of the club. The price of an associate membership is $10 and includes everything that goes with the membership.

Among the events already planned is a reception to be given in honor of all the visiting women by the Wren's Nest Memorial Association, of which Mrs. E. M. C. Wren is president. The reception will be at the Wren's Nest, the home of Judge Joel Chandler Harris, in West End.

Mrs. Irving Thomas, president of the Atlanta club, has invited the executive board of the club to a reception in honor of the visiting women. The club members are to act as hostesses to the women visitors at some afternoon or evening in garden party, the nature of the entertainment to be determined later.

Members of the Advertising club accepted the invitations from Mrs. Wren and the Wren's Nest, expressing pleasure that the representative guests here will have the opportunity to visit the home of Uncle Tom, who will have a special garden party, the nature of the entertainment to be determined later.

Valdosta Chosen as Scene Of 1922 D. A. R. Conference

Cleveland, Ohio, April 7.—In a report read and discussed by the child welfare department of the Cleveland Federation of Women's Clubs, Superintendent of Schools R. G. Jones said immorality is the greatest menace to the public schools today; that we are fast drifting toward free love in this country; that the mothers of the nation are not making good on the jobs, and that dancing in Cleveland schools will be banned entirely, unless it is conducted as a wholesome pleasure and entertainment for school pupils.

"Indifference on the part of parents toward the activities of their children is one of the greatest problems in immorality," Mr. Jones reported.

"It is up to the women and mothers to stop this," he said. "Unless there is a greater feeling of morality, I fear the community and nation will drift toward free love."

Superintendent Jones asserted that the extreme dressing on school children is one of the greatest problems in immorality.

He recommended that the year to educational purposes.

Prior to the close of the last session, Mrs. T. C. Parker formerly of the Atlanta club, now of Valdosta, was elected honorary state regent, she having formerly served as state regent. The annual dues per member has been increased to 40 cents.

Resolution of Immorality.

In a resolution adopted during the meeting, the delegates advocated the use of a Georgia history in the schools of the state, an act to connecting the state with the nation.

Women of the state before they would be allowed to vote, better moving picture films, enforcement of the state's child labor laws, and the placing of markers on bridges along public highways in memory of heroes of the state.

He recommended that the legislature have a roll of revolutionary soldiers from Georgia and the state, and the age of consent to 18 years.

The delegates indorsed erection of the Georgia state memorial at the University of Georgia.

This fund was augmented during the present convention by $500. Under the leadership of Mrs. Howard McCall, of Atlanta, as chairman, $10,000 has been contributed during the year to educational purposes.

That Valdosta will be the meeting place for the 1922 state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution was announced at the meeting of the conference this afternoon.

Atlanta and Macon had been prominently mentioned in this connection.

Letters accompanying the invitation by the General James Jackson chapter, of Valdosta, through its regent, Mrs. J. T. Wood, were from the mayor, the chamber of commerce, the Rotary club, the U. D. C. chapter, the Y. W. C. A. and the Parent-Teacher association of that city.

Stocks Are Driven Down By Aggressive Selling

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, April 7.—As a result of developments in the labor situation here and in England there was very little buying and much aggressive selling of stocks today. Considering the day's news the market acted very well. However, all of the good feeling in evidence yesterday and the day before disappeared.

London cables received early in the day reported Lloyd-George stating that there had been a complete breakdown in the negotiations between the miners and owners. Next it was learned that the English railroad employees had voted unanimously to throw their lot in with the miners. Then it was learned that the government through Lloyd-George had appealed to the great mass of British people for assistance in the existing industrial crisis. On top of this came dispatches from our labor board at Washington that wages of common labor must not be cut arbitrarily, that both sides must present their case and that a ruling of the board must then be given before cut can become effective; that the New York Central must withdraw its proposed reduction in wages and that April 18 has been fixed as the day for beginning the joint hearing of the application of 26 railroads for a wage reduction.

Even our most careful bankers here made no effort to conceal their alarm over the seriousness of the labor situation in England. The miners have admitted that the owners could not continue to pay war time wages. What they want is nationalization or a subsidy paid out of taxes. If the miners succeed there is nothing to prevent railroad employees and others from forcing similar measures. Then everybody will be taxed to help pay inflated salaries and wages. That, of course, is an impossible situation.

As for our own railroad situation here everybody is willing to admit that the decision handed down today by the labor board is sound. The only way out of endless strife between railroad labor and railway officials is by using the machinery set up under the new transportation law which created the labor board and provided for just such procedure as the board now proposes. But with traffic at its present low level and with wages at their existing high mark the railroads are in need of prompt and drastic reductions in operation. Naturally Wall street was disengaged at the prospects of starting a war on April 18 that is likely to be long drawn out. A decision thus reached will not make it any easier for the Pennsylvania to defer its regular dividend on the 24th of this month.

In many respects there is a close parallel between the miners' situation in England and the railroad situation here. In both cases labor wants to continue high war time wages despite the fact that production and selling prices are being readjusted to a pre-war basis.

But there is this difference in our situation and that of England. It will be recalled that when Frank Vanderlip returned from abroad just before resigning from the National City bank and gave out his pessimistic statement for which he was roundly abused he pointed out that England owed her trade supremacy to underpayment of labor, a situation that would have to be readjusted. If the readjustment is coming will England be able to regain her overseas trade position? On the other hand before the war it could not be charged that our labor was underpaid, compared with standards in other countries.

Rumors were heard today that when the United States Steel corporation gives out its unfilled order statement of April 10 as of March 31 it will show a heavy shrinkage. The figures published month ago showed 6,333,000 tons against 7,573,000 at the end of January, $148,000 at the close of December, 9,021,000 at the end of February, 10,805,000 for October, 10,374,000 for September, 10,805,000 for August, 11,118,000 for July, 10,000,000 for the company's greatly increased production resulting from its war time activities the shrinkage in orders cannot go much further without cutting in wages and prices.

Call money opened today at 5% per cent and in the last 15 minutes jumped to 6%. Belated stock exchange borrowers expected a repetition of yesterday's declining from 5 1/2 to 5%. When it did not come they rushed in and bid the rate up against each other. Then, too, there was a lot of money withdrawn from the market when the rate dropped yesterday to 5 per cent.

For the fiscal year ended December 31, 1914, the year the war started, Cluett Peabody earned 5.1 per cent for its common stock, paid 4 per cent on those shares and had a final surplus of $211,000. For 1919 no less than 25.5 per cent was earned for the common stock and there was a final surplus after payment of 6 per cent dividends of $3,464,000. Believing that such earning power had come to stay the dividend last year was increased to 8 per cent. What really happened was that out of a blue sky the bolt came. The company ended 1920 with a deficit of $75,000. Three months ago the quarterly dividend was cut from 2 per cent to 1 1/2%. Today it was passed. Cluett Peabody is not a large company. But its case is typical. Mullen body passed its quarterly dividend today.

Wall street is still talking about yesterday's American Smelting meeting and the consensus of opinion was voiced by one shareholder as follows: "No stockholder who was in attendance will ever again have the same old reverence for the concern which Barton Sowell and a few other oldtimers built up to a position of commanding strength. The most favorable impression of the whole day was made by Mr. Rumsey, counsel of the Continental Insurance company who made it plain that his principals propose in their own behalf and for the whole body of outside shareholders to force a show down of every essential fact having to do with the affairs of the company." Rumsey was acting for Henry Evans who is the Continental Insurance company. Evans and his associates have an investment of $1,250,000 in smelters. From what this fighting man did in International Mercantile Marine and in Cuba cane sugar it is safe to predict that now there is going to be a sure enough old fashioned house cleaning in smelters.

Much comment was also heard today in Wall street regarding the resignation of Eugene V. R. Thayer as president of the Chase National bank. Thayer, who came here from Boston three years ago at the age of 35 to accept the presidency of the Chase, is well liked throughout the financial district. It is an open secret that he was made the "goat" in the Ryan-Stutz episode. Somebody had to be elected. But there are many in Wall street who regret that Thayer drew the ballot.

REPORT SUBMITTED ON SOLDIERS' CARE

Information for the administration of soldier relief work. Early action by President Harding on the report is expected.

Recommendation number one provides for the new agency, and gives it jurisdiction over the war risk insurance, the rehabilitation division of the public health service as may be necessary to take proper care of disabled veterans. It also asks that a director general assume charge of the new agency with full authority to obtain necessary facilities when these already available prove inadequate. This provision would permit the lease or purchase of hospital buildings whenever the demand exceeded the supply.

Want No Limitations.

Car is suggested in the framing of new legislation creating the administration in order to avoid present inconsistencies of law affecting the three existing bureaus. Particular request is made that no statutory limitations be placed on the director general as to the number and salaries of his employees. Number three says that pending the enactment of the treasury, shall issue orders to the heads of the public health and war risk bureaus, authorizing the latter to take charge of the public health activities and personnel engaged in providing medical care for the veterans. The effect would be to consolidate these bureaus under one head by executive order without waiting for congress to act or risk delay from that cause.

The next recommendation provides for an immediate extension and utilization of all government hospital facilities together with such mobilization of civilian medical services as may prove practical.

For Hospital Building.

An immediate and continuous hospital building program is asked in the fifth recommendation which suggests that Secretary Mellon's committee, recently appointed to report on sites for new hospitals, be directed to report concerning the type and locations of the required

STOCKS YIELD UP RECENT ADVANCES

Market Suffers From Ominous Foreign News, While Call Money Rates Also Jump.

New York, April 7.—The stock market today relinquished a very considerable part of the general advance registered in the preceding days of the week, developments overnight and in the course of the sluggish session distinctly favoring the short interest.

Cables from London stressed an accession of pessimism in financial circles growing out of the more ominous aspects of the British industrial situation and occasioned moderate liquidation here for foreign account, including Holland.

Domestic industrial conditions also became more complicated by the decision of the railroad labor board denying the application of the New York Central railroad for immediate production reduction of 10% under the belated labor wage schedule.

Publication of the government crop report, forecasting the fourth largest crop in history, when it failed to stimulate the transportation shares, some of which, including grange, were decidedly lower.

Market prices were at lowest averages in the last half hour, when prices selling from abroad were up to 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 per cent, due, according to reports, to calling of loans.

The market was affected by the day's reversal comprised a number of industrials and specialties whose earnings and dividend prospects are generally classified as doubtful. Changes in the market were the leathers, and chemicals, together with numerous allied issues. Incidentally, the 10% cut in call money rates effected in the action of 10 points which more than cancelled its gain of the previous day. Sales amounted to 450,000 shares.

Exchange rates on London and Paris eased only slightly. Dutch, Italian and Scandinavian stocks had been held in moderate liquidation to some extent, while American points reflected the chaotic trade conditions prevailing in those countries.

Markets were firm, as also were some of the French municipals, but most other domestic and foreign issues lacked definite trend.

Total sales per value were $11,970,000.

If there's any way of keeping from it, I'm not going to miss the baseball games Friday and Saturday between Oglethorpe and Georgia Tech, and I'm not expecting to see anything intensely remarkable in a game that was at that. But it's a pretty sure bet that the two games are going to be tight, fights to the bitter end, which are bound to be the most worth watching.

world and Turk's victory over any one of the trio is by no means a foregone conclusion.

But the Chief is a great money pitcher, as are professionals say. He is never so good as when there are great things at stake, and there will be great things at stake Friday and Saturday.

Otherwise, Tech has most of the edge. Oglethorpe has the advantage of a good pitcher, Nellie, and Nellie and Barnett can quite close up with Bird hope, as a catcher. Both Bevo Webb and Big Simpson are finished with the team.

But Flowers has it all over his rival keystone, and Morgan is a far better pitcher than the famous Shoney, who hopes that he will go back to the outfit when he dies, was actually putting for Georgia. This is the proof enough that when the teams get together the fur is going to fly.

And when you get up this sort of spirit, then you get real sport. It was this spirit that made the Georgia-Tech battles of yesteryear the great sporting event of the enjoyable afternoon they had spent since the football season closed.

The man who, Charlie Shoneys, of the Georgia, who was trying to mind his intellect at Tech, and Jimmy Burns, of the same paper, who was making the endeavor at Oglethorpe. And then there was Cheneau Munday, Jr., of The Journal, who is all wrapped up in the ### Oglethorpe Hopes Rest on Turk.

If Frank Anderson had a couple of Chief Turks out on the field, or if the Chief could work effectively two days in succession, I believe that Oglethorpe would stand an even chance of winning the series.

It would be that the Oglethorpe coach will attempt to use his pitching ace in both games. Certainly if Turk only works in one battle, the other two decisions, absolutely final in these cases, as Mike O'Dowd's friends will probably remember.

But if Turk is wise, he will not send his little warrior against this tough Little Savannah team. He will wait, and when he is sent against Michael the other night he was no more the Strirling who beat Kildumb, Tom Atlanta, than any warrior was Alexander the Great. He was palpably stale and shouldn't be started again inside of a month unless the hand of god is coming in mighty seldom in the meantime.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOYS TO ORGANIZE TEAMS

Boys of the intermediate department of the Sunday school of First Christian church, E. R. Craighead, superintendent, will meet at Piedmont park Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock to organize baseball teams, a regular team and a sub team. It is the purpose of this department to play other teams.

The management of the organization will be under Mr. Craighead, superintendent, Edward L. Cheneau, manager, and Charles Walker, of the Walker Roofing company, supervisor intermediate department.

BENNY KAUFF BARRED BY JUDGE K. M. LANDIS

Chicago, Ill., April 7.—Benny Kauff, star pitcher with the New York Yankees, today was declared ineligible to play in organized baseball by Commissioner Landis because of the indictments returned against him in New York charging him with the theft of an automobile.

To Protect Baseball in State BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

Mason Will Introduce Measure

"Pillow-peeping" listening to the tempting offers of gamblers and other forms of crookedness that come close to spoiling the national pastime of the American people last year, will be punished in this state if the plans of T. S. Mason, representative from Hart county, are carried through at the approaching session of the Georgia legislature.

The following letter was received yesterday from Representative Mason:

"Dear Sir: If you will send me a copy of the bill drawn up by John D. Martin, president of the Southern League, and introduced in the house of the general assembly of Georgia when the legislature meets in June, I am deeply interested in keeping it. It would issue this statement as well as everywhere, and will take pleasure in doing all I can to pass whatever legislation that is needed to protect the game and the patrons.

"I read with interest your reference to this legislation in Sunday's Constitution."

"Very truly, T. S. MASON, Representative From Hart County."

Stringent Bill. The Tennessee law, after which Georgia's protective measure will be based, is probably the most stringent yet introduced in any of the states that have acted to protect baseball from gamblers and crookedness of any kind. The writer feels that its provisions in case the bill passes, will be ample to assure the fans of Georgia that they are paying their money to see honest baseball.

John Martin, framer of the Vandalia State legislation, one of the most prominent figures in the amateur baseball circles, and being one of the best lawyers in Tennessee, it isn't likely that any loopholes will be found. Mr. Martin has devoted a good portion of his life to the national pastime, and the work he devoted to the passage of the Vandalia law, makes it clear that he is anxious to keep the game clean.

Bill Was Passed. Since the publication of the introduction of the baseball legislation in the Tennessee house of representatives in the Constitution Sunday, the bill has been unanimously passed, and it is a good omen that Georgia will follow suit. Texas and Louisiana passed similar measures some months ago.

Augusta Wins Club Trophy From Atlanta

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—(Special)

The University of Georgia defeated Furman college in the last game of the series by a 6 to 2 score here today. The game was well played and developed into a pitcher's duel between Dekle and Padgett. Dekle fanned five, Padgett four.

As was the case the day before, the South Carolina lads started off with a lead. Furman went into the struggle this afternoon determined to win and started things off in quite a business-like manner by serving the moncler, drew a free ticket to first. Bradley sacrificed to score and the lead was over.

With the lead in his pocket, he would have tied the champion, but again after a perfect drive, his full midiron to the green was pulled out a stroke in a second approach.

Possibly the greatest surprise of the day came when Alfred S. Bourne, possibly the best player in the Augusta club, took an 85. His game of Wednesday was perfect. In fact, a stroke better than perfect. He had not set a single record for the course with a 72, one stroke below par. Today, however, he seemed to have lost hold of himself and the shots he held were all sure of making him his worst ones. By the score of 80 he eliminated from further participation in the play for the championship as sixteen golfers came in less than 80. He will be in the second division and will do no more little trouble in disposing of the men paired with him.

Everyone here looks to see a fresh in the tournament. They expect to see a golfer in the second division play better golf than the winner of the amateur division. The winner in form suffered by Mr. Bourne is unacceptable, especially so since his game has been consistent around par for the last two months.

Tom Prescott, of the Drift Hill Club, is driving the longest ball in the tournament. He is to be the second longest driver in America. His long drives added materially to the bad showing of his game, which paired him in the qualifying rounds. Harrison defeated him by a stroke, but seemed to be pressing all the time. The last round he followed the play.

The club grounds have been thrown open to all those who desire to witness the final round of the tournament not members of the club have taken advantage of this courtesy.

R. S. Abbott, of Atlanta, after being assured of a place on the first sixteen withdrew from the tournament and the best golf talent has been lost to the bad showing of Harrison, who paired him in the qualifying rounds.

Harrison defeated him by a stroke or two. If the latter course is taken it will be possible for Bourne to enter. Various opinions have been expressed in the men's meetings. The professionals of the club seem to be of one mind that another should be substituted in his stead, and the committee seems inclined to take the view that a bye must

THREE GAMES ON CALENDAR FOR PREPS

BY LAUREN CLARK.

Three prep games are scheduled for this afternoon. Fulton will meet Marietta, at Marietta; Boys' High will battle University school, at Piedmont park, and Tech High will journey to College Park for a game with the G. M. a. cads.

The Tech High-G. M. a. game will be the most important of the afternoon. These two schools are deadly rivals in the field. As the baseball season has just opened and these two teams have not met this season, great enthusiasm has been raised.

Marietta will have a slight edge on the dole, but this does not mean that the Tech High will not be a good team.

Carrollton will have the pennant last year, and will be the team to beat. The old players are back and fans of the section are looking to Cy for another bunting. Hawking will come in 1920, and his will play a big part in the success of the team. His unofficial batting average was around .350 and he was regarded as one of the most promising players in the circuit. Cy was with Newnan in 1919 and Georgia-Alabama league in 1920, and is regarded as a professional baseball circuit.

Carrollton will have the pennant last year, and will be the team to beat.

Lowell will have the pennant last year, and will be the team to beat.

Both teams are composed of sluggers. All games will start at 3 o'clock.

TECH TRACK SQUAD IS OFF FOR AUBURN

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the Georgia Tech track team hits the road, headed in the direction of Auburn, to compete in the Atlanta Relays, to be held at the Jacks-sonville club of the South Atlantic League. When the United States team turned up against Germany, it yielded to the martial call and fought with the Eighty-second division. He who was the leader of the base-ball division and played in all the games that were played after the armistice.

Roy McClellan Coming Back to Crackers.

Roy Mercer McClellan, the "funny man" of the Bay St. Louis, "funny days" coming to Atlanta shortly, will be a guest of the Crackers this afternoon. He is to appear at the armistice.

He has had a good portion of his life to the national pastime, and the work he devoted to the passage of the Vandalia law, makes it clear that he is anxious to keep the game clean.

Mantell Again Scores Success In Master Role of King Lear

In all likelihood, Lear is Robert Mantell's master role. Certainly the warmth with which it was greeted by the audience at the Atlanta theater Thursday night would indicate it.

The part calls for display of more different emotions than anything ever written for the stage, and accordingly gave full opportunity for Mr. Mantell's tremulous acting.

Especially noteworthy was the work of Vaughan Williams, as Lear. He made a profound impression the night before in the all-too limited role of Casca, and Thursday he was a picture.

So faithful was his portrayal, so true to his work, that it was beyond the powers of his auditors to detect any infirmities in his acting.

His makeup was a thing to marvel at, and nothing more artistic has ever been done than Lear's work in the famous death scene.

The company fully measured up to the standard that Atlanta has

"HUSBAND NO. 1" RESENTS CHARGE OF "HUBBY NO. 2"

Davidson within 24 hours of her first wedding, stirs up a tempest in the marital tank with the courts were unable to solve Thursday, hotly resented statements at trial, which he said that Mrs. Pruitt "permitted herself to be persuaded to marry the other man."

He married the man free will, and she declared Mains Thursday night. "She was not enticed into marriage with me. A wedding was arranged for me because my friends kept me from seeing her. A telephone appointment was made. She was brought to me and my wife was not there. She was to be married to me."

The company fully measured up to the standard that Atlanta has come to expect from a Mantell production. Miss Hamper disclosed new powers in her Cordelia, and it is a matter of regret that the stage manager has seen fit to cut her first act speech.
